

Winter Is Coming, And Here Comes News From ENP!

Friends,

We have been up to quite a bit this month. ENP visited the United States to share SPACE's impact, ran study marathons, and started a brand new pilot program. At ENP, we hope everyone had a great Hanukkah and are excited about all 2019 has to offer.

2018 has been an incredible year and we are looking forward to seeing where this next year can take us. Don't forget you can be a part of ENP by supporting a student.

All About 2018

The Miracle of SPACE

During school breaks, SPACE runs study marathons which students attend on a completely voluntary basis to get extra study time. This Hanukkah, SPACE students from Kiryat Yam, Beer Sheva, Tirat Carmel and more gathered to study, light candles, and eat some sweet sufganiyot.

Whether it be delving into conjugations and equations or diving into some delicious fried treats, our students are so dedicated that they didn't want to miss a thing!

SPACE Visits the United States

In November, one of our SPACE alumna, Yerus Fisaha, shared the story of ENP SPACE to a variety of audiences throughout North America. From Michigan to North Carolina, Yerus met Federation and foundation leaders, students, donors and more. She visited a historical black college for women where she addressed a class, and sat on the floor with elementary-aged day school students, where all had the opportunity to engage, inquire, and delve into Yerus' experience as an immigrant and a participant in ENP SPACE. Yerus' trip not only provided insight and inspiration to all who heard her story, but left a SPACE graduate with unforgettable memories and experiences to last a lifetime.

Yerus is funny, bright and the perfect example of the students we meet and work with in SPACE: "Thank you for letting SPACE give me the most valuable lessons I've learned - believe in myself, work hard and learn from my mistakes."
